Here are just a few reasons to join us at this year's Forum in May:

- Making Informed Connections - The 2017 NPF is organized by respected, renowned and powerful leaders in the mailing and shipping industry. Whether you seek mailing and shipping solutions to run your business more efficiently, looking for the right partnership to complement your business strategy, or pursuing continuing education opportunities for career advancement, the 2017 NPF is the place to be.
- The Exhibit Hall - The 2017 NPF program includes companies that partner with the Postal Service to provide end users with the broadest choice of services. The platform will provide an ideal forum to share and disseminate knowledge and information on using the mail more efficiently to improve your company's bottom line.
- General Session - Postmaster General Megan J. Brennan will share her vision on strategies enabling the mailing and shipping industry's growth and will highlight investments in the future of the US Postal Service, core platforms for long-term growth, and a vision for transforming mail and e-commerce experiences.

If you cannot attend the above programs, you may still take advantage of NPF's biggest trade show ever!

This is your opportunity to take advantage of FREE admission to the NPF Exhibit Hall.
